

KANDINSKY 45 PENDANT —
BY BROBERG & RIDDERSTRÅLE 2019

#518 112 #518 119

A sphere and a spear play the main characters in the lamp's composition, piercing each other in mid-air. The delicate balance of the two elements evokes a dramatic sensation of weightlessness and precision but also fragility.

ABOUT

The Kandinsky pendant lamp is inspired by the abstract circle paintings from the artist of the same name, created during his time at the Bauhaus school in the 1920s. A sphere and a spear play the main characters in the lamp's composition, piercing each other in mid-air. The delicate balance of the two elements evokes a dramatic sensation of weightlessness and precision but also fragility.

The custom-made light source is shaped and fitted seamlessly as part of the glass sphere. Emitting its glow from the middle of the hand-blown smoked glass, the lamp is dimmable to set mood in a space. Kandinsky is available in two sizes, with a 300 or 450mm wide glass sphere. It hangs powerfully on its own, above a table or feature design element, or as a group, to cast its soft, diffused light over a larger space.
